FAQs

What subjects are covered in the live stream 3-day weekend crash course?

The live stream course covers every subject of internal medicine from basics to complicated scenarios. Differential diagnosis and management is discussed in a stepwise approach. Course binders are provided, which you can revise for your exam. The sessions are very interactive. Hundreds of MCQs with explanations of each choice are discussed and numerous clinical and radiological images reviewed. We provide all the updated and essential information you need to pass your exam.

Why is iMedicine Review my best choice?

- Over the past sixteen years, nearly 100% of participants have passed the ABIM exam.
- The course is available at an unbeatable tuition fee.
- The review is held on five weekends from March to September, 2022. You can pick any of the dates for participation, or choose more than one date if your schedule doesn't allow you to attend all of the days at one time.

Does iMedicine Review offer anything besides the 3-day live course?

Yes. In addition to our live stream weekend crash courses, we offer the iMedicine Review Course App, excerpted from the live course, and the iMedicine Review Q&A1500™—more than 1,500 questions and answers for ongoing study and review. Both products are available online or as apps for your devices, and the online versions are free with your paid course registration. They're available for purchase on our website and are a great way to see if our comprehensive live course might be right for you.

Why should I take the live stream course if I can study online or on my device with the iMR Course App or Q&A1500?

The live stream course offers much more than either of our supplementary products. Hundreds of additional questions, exercises, mix and match questions, and images are discussed. Plus, there's the value of studying interactively with other doctors. The live stream course is intense and high yield.

How do I get course materials and join online?

The Board Review Course Book will be mailed to your home address a few weeks before the start of the 3-Day Course. You will refer to the book and watch the slides on your computer during the live stream by joining Google Meet Virtual Classroom, providing close to a live classroom experience. The link to join the virtual classroom and instructions will be sent a few days before the start of the course, and you can easily join the class from your laptop, desktop, iPad, or similar devices.

After registration, how long does it take to get the password for online Q&As?

It takes 2-3 business days for completion of the registration process. An access password will be included in the email confirming your registration. The password is provided to you alone with your paid registration and should not be shared. Access to the Q&As will continue until you take your exam.

Are course discounts available?

Yes, several discounts are available. See the Register by Mail form at left, or contact us online at info@iMedicineReview.com for more information.

Can you suggest additional reading or preparation?

Yes. You can also practice with the MKSAP 18 self-assessment test. Plus, while numerous clinical and radiological images are reviewed during our live stream course, you can do additional study with the Atlas of Internal Medicine by Braunwald.

What if I have to cancel? Can I get a refund?

Yes. If you cancel at least 30 days prior to starting the course we will refund the balance of your tuition fee after deducting a $100 processing fee. There is no refund for cancellations within 30 days of the course. A written notice is required by email for cancellations.
